Presented by the American Association of State Troopers

What is the National Law Enforcement Training Conference & Expo?

The National Law Enforcement Training Conference & Expo is a comprehensive three-day training conference. Educational tracks will include classes on immigration issues, missing persons, AMBER alert systems, human trafficking, Advance Leadership training and related topics. Attendees will have the opportunity to network with fellow law enforcement professionals and experience first-hand, at our law enforcement expo, the newest systems, tools and law enforcement technologies. If you are a civilian or military security professional, or in law enforcement on the federal, state or local level, you will find what you need here at the NLETC & Expo.

Who should attend the conference?

Command staff from local, county, state and federal law enforcement agencies; Police Chiefs and Sheriffs and their top level command officers from small towns and counties to large metropolitan areas throughout the United States; administrators and executive level officers from private security agencies, police officers and administrators from college and university campuses, and other local, state and federal agencies.

What is AAST?

The American Association of State Troopers ("AAST") was established in 1989 as a non-profit national association, offering membership to full-time, active and retired state troopers, state police and highway patrol officers. AAST is the only national association organized exclusively for individual state troopers, state police and highway patrol officers.

Attend this conference and learn from the experts. Learn from the very people who have dealt with immigration enforcement, missing and exploited persons and advanced law enforcement leadership techniques. Prepare yourself, prepare your city, your town, your department. and be READY!

What topics will we cover?

Immigration and Related Law Enforcement Issues.

Immigration is a hot button topic in the United States and especially true for the law enforcement community. We are fortunate to have Neville W. Cramer (INS Special Agent-in-Charge, Ret.) with us as our Keynote Speaker. He has over twenty six years of federal government experience with specialties in executive level leadership and training with the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS). He will speak on “Immigration Chaos Solutions to an American Crisis.” Mr. Cramer divulges some of the real causes of America’s seemingly uncontrollable immigration problems and suggests practical solutions.

(INS Special Agent-in-Charge, Ret.)

Missing and Exploited Persons.

Mrs. Donna Hodges with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement/ Missing Endangered Persons Clearinghouse will lead an open discussion on the Florida AMBER Alert Plan. In addition, other course topics will concentrate on abduction cases, given by Detective John McDowell of the Plant City Police Department and Anna Rodriguez, who is the Founder and CEO of the Florida Coalition Against Human Trafficking will discuss topics related to this growing trend.

Leadership Through Understanding Behavioral Diversity (DISC) and Values/Attitude Training.

The Federal Law Enforcement Training Center-Law Enforcement Leadership Institute will be conducting an advanced leadership course on team building. Retired Superintendent Ronald “Joe” Miller with the Illinois State Police will be the guest speaker for this segment of training. The course is designed to develop more effective work groups and teams within your organization.

Visit our conference website at www.aastnletc.org regularly to find out about new classes, topics and speakers to be introduced at the NLETC.

“It’s been a long time since I’ve attended any course as informative as this.”
